Lottery news

Problem Gambling Awareness Month - March is Problem Gambling Awareness Month and for the 20th year, the Oregon Lottery is supporting efforts to increase awareness regarding problem gambling. Lottery partners with public health, advocacy groups and gambling operators to ensure people understand free treatment and counseling are available through Oregon Problem Gambling Resource \(OPGR\) website. During 2022, 2,100 calls were made to the help line in Oregon and more than 200 chats and texts were received. Since 1992, one percent of Oregon Lottery revenue, which is over $128 million, has been dedicated to supporting problem gambling treatment and prevention efforts throughout Oregon.

Prize payments - To make claiming prizes of any value easier for players, necessary changes were made to allow Lottery to pay prizes over $50,000 from its Wilsonville Payment Center earlier this month. Lottery is excited to offer another way to enhance the customer experience.

Video Lottery field test - The field test of the new Cascada Video Lottery terminal is underway, with 100 retailers within a 25-mile radius of Salem testing the new terminals. The results will help determine whether the Cascada terminal is a viable replacement option for older terminals.

Sales

- The St. Patrick's Day Raffle went on sale Jan. 1 with 250,000 tickets available. All tickets were sold out by March 9.
- Jackpot games are performing strong due to billion-dollar jackpots in July, November, and January.
- Year-to-date sales for Powerball and Mega Millions are ahead of all previous years, with Powerball being ahead of last year by 45 percent and Mega Millions by 148 percent.
- Scratch-it sales are down 5 percent from last year but remain ahead of 2019 and 2020.
- Sports betting turnover is trending up with a 50 percent increase over last year. This year Lottery has seen $371.5 million in wagers, compared to $247.3 million last year.

Winners - Interim director Wells shared stories about the following winners:

- James K of Salem won $500 playing St. Patrick's Day Raffle
- Debbie M. of Gresham won $25,000 playing "Big City 5 Diamonds" Video Lottery
- Kristen A. of Portland won $13,486.75 playing "Big City 5 Diamonds" Video Lottery
